

BARON IN QUEER MARITAL MIX-UP.

De Focke Married New York Girl, and Man Giving His Name Wedded Actress in San Francisco Earlier.

TWO OF SAME DESCRIPTION.

Mrs. Cox, Mother of Choir Singer Who Became Nobleman's Bride, Will Not Believe He Married Twice, Although in California.

The marriage of a man giving the name of Baron George Augustus de Focke to a pretty burlesque actress in San Francisco less than two months before the real Baron wedded Miss Adelaide, a wealthy New York girl, is causing no end of worry to the young woman's mother, who lives in a handsome home at No. 412 Lexington avenue. The Baron and his bride are now abroad, and it seems remarkable that he was in California at the time of the first wedding.

Mrs. Cox is anxious to know who it was that was married to Maid Luft, who on the stage is known as Beryl Vaughn. She does not believe that her son-in-law is guilty of bigamy, and she took the trouble to make inquiries in San Francisco, only to learn that the Baron who was married there closely answered the description of the real de Focke.

Saw Her in Choir.

Baron de Focke came to New York in March. Report has it that in attending services at St. Patrick's Cathedral, he was struck by the pretty face of Miss Cox, who was a chorister there. He sought an introduction successfully and pushed his suit with such vigor that the young woman soon consented to become his bride.

The friends of Miss Cox were surprised not a little last week when Mrs. Cox announced that her daughter had become the wife of the Baron on May 20.

Mrs. Cox was happy until she learned that a marriage license was issued in San Francisco to Baron George Augustus de Focke on March 2 and that a wedding ceremony had been performed by Justice of the Peace Dunn in his office on the same day. The bride was the pretty actress. When Mrs. Cox heard these things she said:

"Had our Baron de Focke been trapped into a marriage with an actress while he was intoxicated he would have my sympathy."

"He's all right," she added. "He is an honest man and you'll find out that just because a man has a title he needn't be a blackguard. I thought all noblemen were a bad lot until I met George and then I saw that he at least was the real thing."

Date is Wrong.

"If a Baronde Flocke married this actress in San Francisco it wasn't our Baron. It must have been some acquaintance of the Baron who used his name to hide his own identity for a while.

"We met the Baron last March, while he was at the Waldorf. He told us that he had come to New York from San Francisco early in February, so he couldn't have been married there on March 20, for he was here.

"Men can't fool me. When the Baron was courting Addie I watched them and noted around and found that he wasn't the dark-corner, hand-squeezing kind. He was on the level. The match was heaven-made. Think of my girl not dancing around in society and yet marrying a real Baron! Wasn't that fixed up in heaven?"

According to Forgetter, a Bowery pawnbroker, De Focke was "broke" when he married Miss Cox, who will inherit a tidy fortune her mother accumulated during the war. Forgetter said he had several of the Baron's pawn-tickets for valuables pawned in San Francisco last winter.

Baron de Focke is the son of a rich Vienna family. His father, an old and noted Vienna aristocrat, is Baron Hermann Alphonse de Focke, President of the Allgemeine Depositenbank of Vienna. Left a large fortune at the age of fifteen, the young man quickly dissipated the money.

CUBAN MERCHANT DIES IN CARRIAGE.

Jose Garcia Expires on Way from Steamship to Hospital, Where He Was to Be Treated.

Jose Garcia, sixty-seven years old, a prosperous merchant of Havana, Cuba, died in a carriage just as he was about to be aided into St. Vincent's Hospital to-day.

Mr. Garcia, with his daughter, were passengers on the Spanish liner Manuel Calvo, which reached this port yesterday morning on her way to Cadiz.

Officers of the Calvo said that Mr. Garcia had suffered a stroke of paralysis in Havana, and had been in bad health since then. With about 100 passengers, all bound for Cadiz, he left with his daughter on the Calvo, thinking the sea voyage might benefit him.

Since the vessel reached this port Mr. Garcia had been getting worse, and decided to go to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Dr. George A. Scott, New York City:

Dear Sir:—I wish to speak a word in behalf of your Electric Hair Brush.

I bought one of you just 22 years ago, and have used it ever since, and I would not exchange it now for any other brush I have seen. When I bought the brush my hair was falling out so badly that I feared I would be bald. I am now 48 years old, and I have plenty of hair on my head. I wish to recommend it to those who are troubled with hair falling out, or those having headache. It will cure both if used according to directions. Respectfully,
GEO. N. SNAPP,

MAGISTRATE HAS TO HUSTLE

Two Justices in Queens Borough Laid Up with Gout and Smith Is Attending to the Business of All Three.

There is something in the air of Queens Borough that affects the judicial temperament and the physique of the City Magistrates. (For advertisements in regard to Queens Borough real estate see the classified lists.) There are three Magistrates in the borough, and two of them are laid up with the gout. In his home in Flushing Magistrate Connorton has one foot wrapped in cotton and lint resting on a sofa pillow while he studies Supreme Court decisions.

In Far Rockaway, swept by ocean breezes (also see advertising page), is Magistrate Healey. He, too, has the gout, a sofa-pillow and a copy of the latest acts of the Legislature.

Tearing around the borough somewhere between Flushing, Long Island City and Far Rockaway, using the trains of the Long Island Railroad, are Magistrate and Counselor Smith, who is making a record as a travelling magistrate second to none and equalled only by that of a circuit rider in the backwoods. The Magistrate is endeavoring to hear all the cases in all the magistrates' courts in the borough, signing bail bonds until he is threatened with writers' cramp, and eating wherever he chances to be when the dinner bell rings.

Jump to Far Rockaway.

The first jump of the Magistrate to-day that Justice might have an even chance was from Long Island City to Far Rockaway, 22 miles. He sat in court twenty minutes, heard all the cases that were ready, had a cup of coffee and a couple of chops that had been hurried over to him from a restaurant, and was driven to the station in time to catch the next train to Long Island City.

As his train pulled into the station another was leaving for Flushing, which he boarded, shouting instructions to his chief clerk to adjourn all cases until noon, as he would be back by that time.

An automobile at the Flushing station whisked him away to court, where the prisoners of the day before and those of to-day, mostly drunks, were waiting to have their cases tried.

Want to get through as quickly as possible? See the Magistrate. He will have all the papers ready, and have got back to Long Island City, and then I have got to swing around the streets again, and hold two courts.

MRS. MUCHMORE GETS A DIVORCE.

Was a Detroit Belle and Accused Her Husband of Misconduct in London.

Minnie Sweet Muchmore received an interdictory decree of divorce from John Edwin Muchmore to-day with a monthly alimony of $100. The decree was signed by Justice of the Peace Arthur C. Butts, who was appointed referee in the case by Justice O'Gorman in March.

The proceedings in the case have been surrounded by the utmost secrecy and the papers were sealed.

John Edwin Muchmore is the London representative of F. S. & Co., New York, who own the house whose name figured in the Molinoux case. Mrs. Muchmore was Miss Margaret Smith, a belle in Detroit society. They were married in 1881. Her sister is the wife of Frederick Smith, who is the wife of a prominent man in London with another woman.

"MY LUNGS

"Of course I expected to die, as my lungs were in a frightful state. My frequent hemorrhages, followed by my paroxysms of coughing, made me so weak that I could scarcely walk."

"I lost 27 pounds in three months. My doctors did me no good and finally gave me up, saying there was no chance for my recovery."

"A friend who had been cured at the Koch Lung Cure, at 50 West 22d St., New York, advised me to go there. I commenced treatment Nov. 19, 1902, breathing into my lungs the healing vapors of the Koch Inhalant, and began to improve at once. My cough disappeared, my appetite returned and I gained rapidly in weight."

"I am now entirely cured, and I am so grateful for my recovery that I will be glad to call on or write to me any one who will call on or write to me."
